INTRODUCTION

Iowa Public Library Information 1973 is the first in what is hoped will be a constantly improving, annual series of in-depth surveys of the public library scene in Iowa. The report includes two main sections: an enlarged directory consisting of five separate smaller directories and an expanded library statistical survey.

The section of five directories includes non-statistical information regarding: Iowa public libraries, librarians, regional systems, boards of trustees and institutions. This section is a new endeavor and was revised constantly up to our October printing date. Hopefully, in the future, all libraries will keep the State Library informed of any Directory changes so that a very current set of directories will always be maintained at the State Library.

Since this is the first attempt at expanded statistics, there will necessarily be errors. We cannot underline too strongly the value of filling in survey forms accurately. No matter how diligently the State Library staff works to publish an accurate, complete survey, the survey is only as accurate and complete as the information relayed to us by individual public libraries. The State Library is very well aware that much information was requested this time that had not previously been required of public libraries. Many libraries simply did not have this information available. The need for cooperation in information gathering is imperative. Future plans involving funding and legislation in the library field will demand even additional statistics.

In summary, this total report will give a reasonably accurate profile of any public library in Iowa. In addition, it should provide a needed administrative tool to assess needs and provide the facts necessary for future library plans, services, funding and legislation.

We welcome your comments and suggestions.

NOTE: The following salary and professional summary is done alphabetically within groups according to population served: under 2,500; 2,500—9,999; 10,000—49,999; 50,000 and over. To find the desired library, check Directory I, which states population served by each library; then look in the proper grouping below. HL is used to indicate that one of the number in a particular personnel column is the Head Librarian. The Head Librarian's educational background is not again indicated in the Salary Range section. Unless otherwise indicated, salary listed is yearly (ph—per hour, pw—per week, pd—per day). Full Time does not necessarily mean an 8-hour day, see also Directory I for total library hours open. NA—Not Available — indicated there was a personnel report but not in a form which conformed to the reporting procedure.

NOTE: The following salary and professional summary is done alphabetically within groups according to population served: under 2,500; 2,500—9,999; 10,000—49,999; 50,000 and over. To find the desired library, check Directory I, which states population served by each library; then look in the proper grouping below. HL is used to indicate that one of the number in a particular personnel column is the Head Librarian. The Head Librarian's

educational background is not again indicated in the Salary Range section. Unless otherwise indicated, salary listed is yearly (ph—per hour, pw—per week, pd—per day). Full Time does not necessarily mean an 8-hour day, see also Directory I for total library hours open. NA—Not Available — indicated there was a personnel report but not in a form which conformed to the reporting procedure.

NOTE: The following salary and professional summary is done alphabetically within groups according to population served: under 2,500; 2,500—9,999; 10,000—49,999; 50,000 and over. To find the desired library, check Directory I, which states population served by each library; then look in the proper grouping below. HL is used to indicate that one of the number in a particular personnel column is the Head Librarian. The Head Librarian's

educational background is not again indicated in the Salary Range section. Unless otherwise indicated, salary listed is yearly (ph—per hour, pw—per week, pd—per day). Full Time does not necessarily mean an 8-hour day, see also Directory I for total library hours open. NA—Not Available — indicated there was a personnel report but not in a form which conformed to the reporting procedure.
